Vienna, 15th March 2022 Within only a few weeks, our perception of Europe and the World has changed. The Ukraine crisis has also changed our view on health care. Topics such as catastrophe medicine, radiation protection, aid to civilians and soldiers, and civil defense are now in the spotlight.

123sonography sees itself as an information and content provider to the medical community. While our primary focus is on diagnostic medical ultrasound, we also see it as our responsibility to provide knowledge to all those who want to protect themselves or help others.

Therefore, we put together a program including experts from civil defense, catastrophe medicine, radiation medicine, emergency medicine, and wound management to answer your questions and in an attempt to provide humanitarian aid to all of those involved.
